STARTED TO DEATH.

Pensacola Policeman Murdered by Negro He Had Arrested—Negro Captured.

Mounted Police Officer R. J. Carter was stabbed and killed shortly before 1 o'clock this morning by a negro whom he had placed under arrest and was taking to a patrol box to send to the city jail. Dave Alexander, colored, was arrested shortly afterwards at his home in Luke's alley, and is held charged with the murder.

The report of the officers death reached the police station shortly before 1 o'clock, and within five minutes Marshal Sanders, Captain Hall, Sheriff Van Pelt and a half dozen other officers were on the scene and found the body of the dead officer, lying near the corner of Aragon street and Luke's alley.

In the breast of the officer was a gaping wound, showing where the knife had penetrated, touching a vital spot. Another cut appeared on the hand, another on the chin, while still another had struck the left arm above the wrist. The one in the breast was just to the right of the heart, and the knife had passed through the coat and a large number of warrants and subpoenas in the inside pocket.

These wounds and the ground along the street showed that the officer and negro had a terrible fight. The point where it occurred is in an isolated section of the city, where no one but negroes would have seen or heard it. Blood on the sand showed where the officer had received the wound which caused his death, and it could also be seen that the negro had then fled. The officer followed and fired two shots at the man, the reports of which were heard at Wright's mill by the watchman.

The first clue the officers had was when a negro woman appeared at the station and wanted to get the bond of her husband signed. She knew he had been arrested by a mounted officer, but did not know of the murder. She was detained and the officers at once began a search for her husband. The entire section was scoured and then Officers Reed and Simpson paid another visit to the house where the negro resided, to find him in. He did not resist arrest and claimed he was innocent. His torn clothing, however, showed that he had been in a fight of some kind and he was quickly sent to the jail, and there held pending a further investigation.

The murdered officer was about 24 years of age, and had been a member of the police department about six or eight months. His former home was in Jacksonville.

The negro alleged to be the murderer is about 40 or 45 years of age, slender in build and about 5 feet 8 inches in height.

The body of the officer was moved to the police station and placed on a table in the assembly room, where it will be viewed by the coroner.—Pensacola Journal, 3rd.

LYNCHING IN PENSACOLA.

The Negro Murderer of Policeman Carter Strung Up by Mob.

Pensacola, Fla., April 5.—David Alexander, the negro who killed Policeman Carter on Saturday night, was taken from the police station at 3 o'clock this morning by a masked mob, quickly rushed to the public square a few yards away, and lynched from the same pole that Leander Shaw was strung to a few weeks ago.

The mob was quiet and orderly, but determined in their work.

The police were taken unawares, and those at the station were quickly overpowered. No one in the city apprehended the slightest trouble. The mob fired one volley at the negro and quickly dispersed. The negro confessed to the killing of the policeman yesterday. The city is quiet this morning and no further trouble is apprehended as the result of the lynching.
